-John 3:16.

Dear Brothers and Sisters,

This weekend, our parish celebrates the Feast of the Most Holy Trinity. It is a great privilege for us since many parishes' feast day falls on different days of the week, however our happy home is connected to the feast immediately after the Easter season has concluded with Pentecost.

While we move forward into the season of ordinary time and prepare to work hard for the summer, and enjoy it in our own right, let us remember the lessons taught to us by generations of parishioners. The lessons of patience, hospitality, ingenuity, and holiness will carry us a long way as we enjoy a summer that has come upon us very quickly (thanks be to God.)

This weekend, the parish celebrated the last of our sacraments of initiation. Over the past four weekends, we have been blessed to celebrate the first communions of a great number of young people, two parishioners were confirmed and received into full communion with the Church on Pentecost and Saturday saw the Confirmation of this year's class. A good two generations have become well fit to serve and will no doubt be further examples of good parishioners. Please pray for them all.

St. Gregory Nazianzen, speaking on the Most Holy Trinity, opines, “In the one God are three pulsations that move the world.” Let us pray well to the triune God who moves all creation in his goodness and let us be at peace as we experience his blessings.

May God bless you,
